

THOUGHTS ON A CHRISTMAS ANTHOLOGY

Gathering material for an anthology for Christmas, you find yourself getting into the Christmas spirit even before the shops! Deciding on the programme makes you think about what you believe to be the essential elements of Christmas. There are some things that immediately spring to mind – carols, of course, certain well-known, traditional poems and readings, angelic music.

Every year we try to present an interesting and entertaining selection of items, some old, some new. Each year it becomes more challenging to find new pieces and this year's performers have risen to the challenge of producing some of their own material. We hope you enjoy it.

We are delighted to be joined by the wonderful Melting Pot Theatre Band, who played and sang so beautifully for 'Anne Boleyn' in the summer.

Our first Christmas Anthology took place in 1996. For many of us, including me, this show marks the start of the Christmas. We hope it gets you into the mood for the Festive Season.

Merry Christmas and a very happy New Year!
